SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR

THE symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side, Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, & is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general costive, sometimes alternating with ax. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility, and low spirits Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the liver is generally the organ most involved. THE NEW CHURCH ORGAN.

BY WILL M. CARLTON.

They've got a bran new organ, Sue,
For all their fuss and search;
They've done just what they said they'd do,
And fetched it into church.
They're bound the critter shall be seen,
And on the preacher's right,
They've hoisted up their new machine,
In everybody's sight;
They've got a chorister and choir,
Agin' my voice and vote;
For it never was my desire
To praise the Lord by note!

I've been a sister good an' true,
For five an' thirty year;
I've done what seemed my part to do,
An' prayed my duty clear;
I've sung the hymn both slow and quick,
Just as the preacher read,
And twich, when Deacon Tubbs was sick,
I took the fork an' led!
An' now, their bold, new fangled ways,
Is comin' all about;
And I, right in my latter days,
Am fairly crowded out!

To-day, the preacher, good old dear,
With tears all in his eyes,
Read—"I can read my title clear,
To mansions in the skies."—
I al'ays liked that blessed hymn—
I s'pose I al'ays will;
It somehow gratifies my whim.
In good old Ortonville,
But when that choir got up to sing,
I couldn't catch a word;
They sung the most dog-gondest thing
A body ever heard!

Some worldly chaps was standin' near,
An' when I seed them grin,
I bid farewell to every fear,
And boldly waded in.
I thought I'd chase their tune along,
An' tried with all my might;
But though my voice is good and strong,
I couldn't steer them right.
When they was high, then I was low,
An' also contra wise;
And I too fast, or they too slow,
To "mansions in the skies."

An' after every verse, you know,
They'd play a little tune;
I didn't understand an' so
I started in too soon.
I pitched it pretty midlin' high,
And fetched a lusty tone
But oh! alas I found that I
Was singin' there alone!
They laughed a little, I am told;
But I had done my best,
And not a wave of trouble rolled
Across my peaceful breast.

And sister Brown—I could but look—
She sits right front of me;
She never was a singin book,
An' never want to be
But then she al'ays tried to do
The best she could, she said;
She understands the time, right through,
And kept it with her head,
But when she tried this mornin', oh,
I had to laugh or cough!
It kept her head a bobbin' so,
It e'en a'most came off!

An' Deacon Tubbs—he all broke down,
As one might well suppose,
He took one look at sister Brown,
And meekly scratched his nose.
He looked his hymn book thro' and thro',
And laid it on the seat,
And then a pensive sigh he drew,
And looked completely beat.
An' when they took another bout,
He didn't even rise;
But drew his red bandanner out,
And wiped his weepin' eyes.

I've been a sister good an' true,
For five an' thirty year;
I've done what seemed my part to do,
An' prayed my duty clear;
But death will stop my voice, I know,
For he is on my track;
And some day I to church will go,
And never more come back,
And when the folks gets up to sing—
Whene'er that time shall be—
I do not want no patent thing
A squealin' over me

"WHO CAN TELL?

Why the council and executive officer do not wish to occupy the neat and commodious rooms prepared for them in the caboose building." The querist must have been a friend of the present local administration, and looked thro' the same glass not to see so plain an object. 1st. A Justice of the Peace (!) should have his office outside of the calaboose to render justice more complete. 2d. Should the members or friends of the council be brought to justice by violating law in selling liquor to drunkards, &c., and be compelled to reside in the calaboose, it would be so hard, you know, for them to face their friends and brethren.—3 l. Who but grumblers can complain of $60 a year, when rents are so high and rooms so scarce for suitable places of justice. 4th. Should any public officer become temporarily disqualified to attend to public business (!) it would be so humiliating, you know, to find him in the calaboose. And then, the reputation of our city, you know, would receive such a shock. By all means keep the council rooms and mayor's office out of the calaboose buildings. How easy to answer the above inquiry for those not acquainted with the facts, you know. X

TEMPGRANCE.

Sentiments of the Vice President.

The speech of the vice president of the United States at Lincoln Hall last Sunday has made a good impression on the community. The following is a faithful synopsis of his remarks:

Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen I have come before you this beautiful Sabbath afternoon to speak to you if possible, heart to heart, soul to soul, not to denounce, but if possible, to persuade. I come not to demand, but to plead with every one of you. I come to speak for that liberty which elevates body and soul above the thraldom of the intoxicating cup. We have passed through scenes that have rocked this land to its center on the question whether human slavery should continue on our soil. It was but slavery of the body. It was but for this life. But the slavery against which I speak to day is the slavery not only of soul and body and talent and heart for this life, but is a slavery which beyond the gates of the tomb to an unending eternity.

I scarcely know where to begin an appeal to my fellow men. It seems to me the ravages of this monster, this foe of humanity, are so evident that the most eloquent would fail to add anything to what our own eyes witness to us day by day.

Answer this question to your own hearts: Is there one solitary man or woman here who can not think of some loved relative or valued friend who has been dragged down from prosperity, and happiness, and usefulness to the thraldom of that which first imbrutes and degrades its victim before it buries them in the tomb?

That which more than all else makes misery, anguish, unhappy homes, pauperism, crime, murder, and self destruction is that in atiate monster—intemperance. Thousands of years have elapsed since the sacred word came from inspiration, and every year has realized the terribleness of that series startling questions:—'Who hath woe? Who hath sorrow? Who hath contention? Who hath babblings? Who hath wounds without cause? Who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine. They that go to seek mixed wine.'

We speak of the horrors of war, and there are horrors in war; carnage and bloodshed, and mutilation, and broken frames, and empty sleeves, and widows weeps and children's woes, and enormous debts and grinding taxation, all come from war, may be the necessity for saving a nation's life. But it fails in all its horrors, compared with those that flow from intoxication. We shudder at the ravages of pestilence and famine but they sink into insignificence when compared with the sorrow and anguish that follow in the train of this conqueror of fallen humanity.

I scarcely dare, to submit in figures to you the aggregation of these miseries. You have heard to day of the eleven millions of barrels of liquors consumed in this fair land of ours in a year, or more than one barrel to every family from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Have you thought of the terrible statistics of the census that reveal that there are 400 000 more people to day engaged in the sale and manufacture of liquors than in preaching and teaching? Have you thought that every year 60,000 of our people march voluntarily through a drunkard's life to a drunkard's grave?

Go to the poorhouses of New York. There are 72,000 persons in that state supported by the taxes on the people. And of these 72,000 it has been ascertained that more than one half came to their ruin directly from liquor. Then in the whole land there are more than 700,000 in the poor houses of the states and territories. And if in New York so many families have been dragged down from competence to poverty 350,000 in the broad land have been shipwrecked forever by devotion to this monster evil When that habit was first on them they could have snapped it with infant hands, but now it is like gyves of iron and steel on every limb.

Imagine if you can, that you could change by some magic power this condition of affairs; that you could restore these fathers to their families; that those now engaged in the manufacture and sale of liquors could be come actual helpers in the development of our resources and in productive industry; and that the millions of dollars now paid annually for intoxicating liquors—which in a few years would pay your national debt—could be delivered into channels of enterprise and usefulness, what a change would this make!

I see before me many distinguished in political, social, and business life, and some of them I fear to day voluntarily enrolled in the great army of moderate drinkers. When you appeal to them to give the force of their influence and example to the evil, their answer is that they have strength to resist—they can quit when they please. Possibly you may have, but before you all I can frankly acknowledge, from what I have seen in public and private life, that I dare not touch, or taste, or handle the wine bowl You say you are strong. I can point you to those stronger tenfold over than you who began as you have, and who lost their power of resistance before they knew they were in the power of the tempter. This demon, like death, seems to love a shining mark. He only is fortified who has determined not to yield to the first temptation.

There is but one class whence he has never drawn a victim That class has defied him: and will to the end It is we who stand, God help us, with our feet on this rock of safety, against which the waves may dash, but they shall dash in vain. I implore you come and stand with us. I plead with you to come for I believe that all mankind are my brethren. I believe in the fatherhood of God and in the brotherhood of man. And when I see an inebriate reeling along the streets I feel that, though debased and fallen, he is a brother still, created in the image of God, destined to an eternal hereafter, and it should be your duty and mine to take him by the hand and seek to place his feet on the same rock on which we stand.

That is what gave such a wonderful triumph to the Washingtonians, this recognizing the duty of individual responsibility. How many of you have seen him on the shore of destruction and tried to save him? Not one? Not one? How dare you on your knees ask God to bless you and yours, when you have not thus proved that you love your neighbor as yourself! This duty should be impressed on your souls by your ministers in the pulpit, by your writers in the public press More than all things else in the land we need a temperance revival. Whom would it harm? No one.

Have you thought of the fact that there are in this land of ours half a million of the rising generation learning to drink, who never drank before? Half a million of the young, just stepping over the threshold of life, and joy and hope, who are failing into this evil habit of drinking. What is to be done to stop the ravages to this monster? I am always saddened when no pledge is asked at the close of such a meeting. I know what there is in a pledge.

Daniel Webster was once asked what was the most important thought that ever occured to his mind. He placed his hand thoughtfully on his brow, and, after a pause, raphed: 'The most important thought that ever occured to me is the sense of my individual responsibility to God and man.'

I know how poor words are to express the emotions of the heart that I seek to voice in these words. If I could add anything I would refer to the remarkable testimony from the Joliet prison. There are 1,020 people in the state of Illinois who, for violation of the law, are locked up in prison as a penalty for their crimes. Out of the 1,020 950 signed a petition to the legislature stating that intoxication was the cause of their present unhappy condition, and they begged these representatives of the people to save, if possible, the rest of the citizens from their wretched fate. There are 14,000 people to day languishing under the penalties of the law in this Union of ours for crimes to which they have been led by the influence of intoxicating drink. Can we realize the aggregate of sorrows?

But come down to the individual home of the man who has become a slave to this demon. Do you find contentment, prosperity? Ah no. Do you find the wife's cheek lighting up with joy as her husband comes home when the shadows lengthen? Ah no. Her cheeks pale at the step of him who pledged her a life of devotion for the love she gave to him. All things are warning you to beware of yielding to this evil. The scriptures; the men reeling in their cups; your poorhouses, your prisons, the forsaken wives all cry beware. In the language of an eminent champion of temperance. 'When drink can easily be given up by you, give it up for the sake of your example on others; if it be difficult to give it up for your own sake'

Choose you this day whether you will stand with us on this rock, defying the snares, and evils, and misery and woe, and desolation of the tempter, or whether, pursuing your present habit you will go down the easy descent, till at last, dishonored and disgraced, having lost the respect of others and your own self respect, you end a miserable and gloomy life by a home in the tomb from which there is if inspiration be true no resurrection that shall take you to a better land.

CANALS VS. RAILROADS.

I have been struck by your remarks in regard to the necessity of maintaining the canals of the state in effective condition, and the importance of increasing their capacity rather than permitting them to fall into disuse through need of repairs. The subject is an important one to the producers of the state. Wherever canal carriage comes into competition with railroad transportation, we have equitable and moderate freight rates for the transportation of the great staples, mineral and agricultural. Where this does not exist, the public is at the mercy of great corporations and their farmed out freight lines, representing inside rings of railroad magnates, whose only interest is to extract just as high rates as it is possible to obtain. On this subject we should learn a lesson from the neighboring state of Pennsylvania.

Many years ago Pennsylvania boasted a magnificent system of canal improvements, connecting with the lakes and the Ohio river with tide water by means of the Portage railroad over the mountains, which carried section boats on trucks from the terminus of the western section of the canal at Johnstown to the eastern section at Hollidaysburg. This, of course came in direct competition with the Pennsylvania railroad, at that time a modest corporation, and the first unfolding of its gigantic policy was the cultivation of a public sentiment that the canals were slow—old fogyish—behind the age, etc. This succeeded and the legislature sold the lines of state improvement to the railroad corporation, which at once sprung into the field fully armed for a contest with the people. We all know the result. The competition of the canals with the railroad, which secured equitable rates of local and through freights—a substantial benefit brought home to the people—was terminated, and the great corporation became the master instead of the servant, and it has so remained ever since, especially within the bounds of the state, where there are no competing means of transportation whatever. Competition from western points, and from the east to the west, compels the Pennsylvania railroad to shape its through freight by those of other lines, but the people of the state are debarred from this advantage, and the corporation is too much the master of legislation to allow the enforcement of the pro rata principle. Now, you may go from one end of Pennsylvania to the other, and you will hear from all business, producing and manufacturing classes, the admission that the distruction of the canal system was a grave public misfortune. No other competition has ever supplied its place, and none, the probabilities are, ever will.

New York, more wisely, while encouraging railroads, has also maintained her canals, and is improving them now. The state within two years has gone to the extent of offering a bonus of one hundred thousand dollars for the application of steam to canal navigation. It has set the inventive genius of the universal Yankee at work in this direction, and the desired result is sure to come some time or other. That will revolutionize canal navigation, not only in New York, but in other states, and give the people a still stronger curb on railroad monopolies than they now possess in the much ridiculed but vastly useful canals.

I hope the people of Ohio will be warned by the example of Pennsylvania, and instead of permitting their canals to be sacrificed in order to promote the growth and power of railroads, will imitate the policy New York, and improve the capacity of these highways of the people, that afford a competing power, the necessity of which is becoming more apparent to the dullest intellect every day. —Statesman.

QUALITIES OF A GOOD DOCTOR.

First, let us advise you to avoid the drunken doctor as you would a viper. Avoid a mean man, for you may be sure he will be a mean doctor, just as certain as he would make a mean husband. And a dishonest man; he will not be honest with you as your physician.

Shun the doctor that you can buy to help you out of a scrape—a good doctor cannot be bought.

Avoid the licentious doctor if you would protect your family. There can be no compact between virtue and vice.

Avoid the untidy, coarse, blundering fellow, for the man who is clumsy in hitching his horse you may be sure is not handy at midwifery or surgery.

Avoid the doctor who flatters you, and humors your lusts and appetites.

Avoid the man who puts on an extra amount of airs; be assured it is done to cover his ignorance.

Avoid the empty blow horn, who boasts of his numerous cases, and tells of his seeing forty or fifty patients a day, while he spends two hours to convince you of the fact: Put him down for a fool.

To be a doctor one must first be a man in the true sense of the word.

He should be a moral man, honest in his dealings.

He must have good sense, or he can not be a good doctor.

He should be strictly temperate. No one should risk his life in the hands of an intemperate doctor.

He must have some mechanical genius, or it is impossible for him to be a good surgeon.

It is a good sign if he tells you how to keep well.

It is a good sign if the members of his own family respect him.

It is a good sign if the children like him.

It is a good sign if he is neat and handy in making pills and folding powders.

It is a good sign if he is still a student, and keeps posted in all the latest improvements known to the profession for alleviating human suffering.

An English clergyman named Furniss has published a book for children; It is entitled 'The Sight of Hell," and one of the glimpses which it affords to the little ones!

"Little child, if you go to hell there will be a devil at your side to strike you. He will go on striking you every moment forever and ever without stopping. The first stroke will make your body as bad as the body of Job, covered from head to foot with sores and ulcers. The second stroke will make your body twice as bad as the body of Job, and so on. How, then, will your body be after the devil has been striking it every moment for a hundred millions of years without stopping?"

We can scarcely advise parents to require their children to answer the terrorizing conundrum propounded by the reverend author. Such teachings are more apt to produce morbid insanity than to instil virtuous sentiments in the impressible minds of the young.—Ex.

THE POOR CUSTOMER.

'How much butter?'
'One half pound, if you please.'
'And sugar?'
'Half a pound, sir.'
'And those oranges?'
'Half a dozen, sir.'
'You go by halves to day. Well, what else? Be speedy, ma'am, you are keeping better customers waiting.'
'Half a peck of Indian meal and one French roll,' said the woman; but her lip quivered, and she turned to wipe away a trickling tear.

I looked at her straw bonnet, all broken—at her faded shawl, her thin, stooping form, her coarse garments, and I read poverty on all—extreme poverty. And the pallid, pinching features—the mournful but once beautiful face—told me that the luxuries were not for her.

An invalid looked out from his narrow window whose pale face longed for the fresh oranges; for whose comfort the butter and the fine French roll were bought for a sacrifice. And I saw him sip the tea, and taste the dainty bread, and praise the flavor of the sweet butter, and turn with brightening eyes to the golden fruit. And I heard him ask her, kneeling at the smoking hearth, to taste them with him. And as she set her broken pan on the edge to bake her coarse loaf, I heard her say, 'By and by, when I am hungry.'

And 'by and by,' when the eyes of the sufferer had closed in sleep, I saw her bend over him, with a blessing in her heart. And she lay the remnant of the feast carefully by, and ate her bread unmoistened.

I started from my reverie. The grocers hard eye was upon me. 'You are keeping better customers waiting.'

Oh, how I longed to tell him how poverty and persecution, contempt and scorn, could not dim the heart's fine gold purified by many a trial; and that woman, with her little wants and holy sacrifice, was better in the sight of God than many a trumpet tongued Dives, who gave that he might be known to men.

THE LATE ECLIPSE.

A gentleman who writes from Bombay, the station at which Prof Lockyer, of the British Eclipse Expedition, viewed the recent eclipse, writes to Nature as follows: "It does not happen more than once in a lifetime to see such a glorious and magnificent sight as that from which I have just returned—that is the total eclipse of the sun. I have seen many eclipses before, but nothing equal to this. I was engaged to go with the Morgans to the top of the hill to see it. Got up at six, and found it a lovely morning; rode up to Morgan's, about half a mile, carrying with me glasses, smoked glass and sun hat. Got there before seven and found the eclipse already begun. Got out two mirrors and watched the hole in the sun grow bigger and bigger. It began from the top, and we all went off to the highest point on the hill, from whence we could see all Ooly and the mountains around. When the eclipse got so far, the cold on the mountain grew much greater, the grass was so wet that no one's boots kept it out, the feet and hands grew cold and with your back to the sun the light over the country was like the twilight or the earliest dawn. Gradually the lower streak got thinner and thinner, until at last there shone a light like the famous lime light, and in a moment or two that went out, and the sun was totally concealed; many stars were visible; the whole country looked dark—that is, half dark, like moonlight—the crows stopped cawing, and for two minutes and a half the total eclipse lasted, a sight I shall never forget, and then the little light again appeared at the bottom rim of the sun, and gradually more and more of him appeared, the crows began at once, and the cocks began to crow, the shadow now was inverted, and by degrees got small, until at nine o'clock the eclipse was over. I cannot but suppose that the scientific men must have had grand opportunities of observation, and that to-day's pencil will carry home many a description. Anything more beautiful, more sublime, or perfect it would be impossible to conceive."

WITH REGARD TO DANCING.

Much has been written with reference to dancing; and many are the protestations which have come up from the ministrs of all churches against it; yet there are those who differ upon this question, and for their benefit we give the following view of the Presbyterian Banner. It says:

"This selfeless, indiscriminate warfare against an innocent amusement is contrary to common sense, and without a shadow of Divine warrant. As well might the hue and cry be raised against promiscuous croquet parties, or any other recreation in which the sexes unite. It cannot be denied that there are forms of dancing which are contrary to all rules of refinement and decency. It would be eminently proper for the Church, through the pulpit and the press, to raise its voice against all evils which may be engrafted upon any of our pursuits, amusements, or other walks of life. Gluttony is a vice, but is eating? Excesses creep into almost everything we do. Must we therefore do nothing? In my orchard I find excrescences which deform some of the best trees there; should I cut the trees down or remove the tumors?

A medical friend in a neighboring city has a very lazy horse. A gentleman having borrowed him one day determined to try his speed, and in driving past the doctor's office developed a gait that was surprising to Billy the office boy, who ran in exclaiming excitedly: 'Doctor, your horse is some on a race!' 'Yes, Billy; but he's more on a funeral.'

The mind of man is this world's true dimensions; and knowledge is the measure of the mind.

The Independent.

Two Dollars a year, in advance.

Massillon, Wednesday, April 24.

Congress talks of adjourning on the 22th of May, but the time is not yet fully decided upon.

By reports in the dailies of Monday Congress has about killed off the civil rights bill. Mr. Ambler's vote is not recorded—he was probably absent.

In classifying congressmen as to who is for or against the Cincinnati reform republican convention, we observe in one of the lists that Mr. Ambler is set down as against Grant, which looks to us like a mistake.

The reform convention is to meet at Cincinnati on next Wednesday, about the time of day that the Massillon Independent goes to press.

The Ohio legislature will adjourn on Monday next, the 26th inst. This will complete about four months since it convened. A good deal of legislative work has been done—perhaps as much as we could expect of something like 150 men to accomplish. When it is difficult to find even two men agreeing on a few important questions, we may realize a greater marvel when 75 times as many can come to a common conclusion in the law making business, about which there is such a diversity of opinion in a free country. In districting the state, up to this time it looks as if the 17th is to be changed by taking off Jefferson and adding Mahoning. The new districting is supposed to be favorable to the election of 12 republicans and 8 democrats, as there will be an increase of one member from Ohio. After considerable discussion as to the time of holding the constitutional convention, also the time to elect members thereof, it was concluded best to wait until after the presidential election of 1872 is past, then no national issues will be up to distract the deliberations of the constitution makers. With all the vigorous and persistent efforts of the liquor party to alter the laws on that subject they signally failed, and that too, when the temperance party did not do half what they might have done. At Cleveland the grog party sent in some 14,000 names at one time, and Cincinnatti at another time over 6,000, and at still another time over 46,000 liquor names. How many tombstones they copied from, or how many repeaters they had in these enterprises the public will never know, but it is certain some of these thousands were the names of dead men and the repitition of a good many living ones. But with all this they were beaten. A short time after petitions and remonstrances began to come in they were reported in the daily papers, we made a note of the numbers on each side, and the result was

Against change (no grog)	100 969
For change (grog)	76 930
A majority of	24,039

against repeal or modification is a pretty strong hint that the people are not in favor of liquor rule.

Some weeks ago the orderly people of our city, whether professing sympathy with the temperance movement or not, rejoiced in the fact that our town council in its wisdom proposed and enacted an ordinance requiring the liquor shops to be shut up at 9 o'clock every evening. This is but a fraction of what thorough temperance people think ought to be done in that direction but we felt disposed to rejoice that the little indication was a token in the right direction, even if nothing of the same sort ever followed it. Since the passage of the nine o'clock ordinance we are informed that arrests for disorderly conduct have greatly diminished in number. While this fact is creditable to our city regulations, it is also a saving of expense, as well, and for this reason we hope the ordinance will not be disturbed, though it is reported by hints afloat that an effort will be made for its repeal. We hope the impression is a mistaken one, and that our municipal legislators are men of such considerate character as at least to reflect seriously before they undertake to carry out this idea, if indeed it is contemplated. At least let the ordinance be tried a few months longer and let all be convinced that it works no detriment, but on the other hand good to our community. There will be a responsibility incurred in the repeal of the ordinance that should induce every one to reflect before he acts.

It looks business like to see the large number of sewing machines at E. D. Chidester's depot, on Erie street just north of McLain, Dangler & Co's store. The usefulness and indispensable necessity of these machines are daily becoming more common and Mr. C. proposes to keep an ample supply of them, and all the needed attachments on hand. Be sure to call on him. Erie st. is great on sewing machines.

It holds out well—the theory that if rain falls on Easter Sunday it will be wet six Sundays thereafter. Last Sunday was no exception—it did rain. Probabilities foretold this, also that we should have a cold northwest wind on Monday, and it was so.

EDITORIAL CONVENTION.—At the suggestion of J. K. Rukenbrod, Esq., President of the Editorial and publishers convention, composed of the counties forming the 17th congressional district and those of Portage, Mahoning and Trumbull, the secretary would respectfully call the attention of the fraternity to the time appointed for the next meeting. It was resolved at its last adjournment to convene at Warren on Thursday evening, May 9th. J. K. Rukenbrod of the Salem Republican is orator for the occasion, and A. McGregor of the Stark county Democrat, poet. It is hoped there will be a general turn out, as a pleasant time is anticipated in the good old town of Warren.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Wednesday Eve'g, April 17, 1872.

The council met in regular session and was called to order by the president. Members present—Messrs. Willenborg, Folger, Kirkland, Oberlin, Crone, Warwick, Altekruse and Gise.

Minutes of the two preceedings meetings read and approved.

The street commissioner submitted his regular report of work done on streets and alleys for the two weeks ending April 13, to be $136,23.

Mr. Oberlin of the select committee to whom was referred the matter of the proposed extension of the old Wooster road, reported that the county commissioners still expressed their willingness to build abutments and construct bridges on said road.

The president of the council reported the appointment of the following standing committees:

Judiciary—Folger, Gise and Oberlin.

Streets and Alleys—Warwick Gise and Altekruse.

Finance—Warwick, Oberlin and Crone.

Ways and Means—Oberlin, Kirkland and Warwick.

Water Works—Crone, Altekruse & Oberlin.

Fire Dept—Altekruse, Kirkland and Crone.

Gas—Oberlin, Warwick and Gise.

Unfinished Business—Oberlin, Warwick and Kirkland.

Resolved, That the standing committee on the Judiciary be instructed to report an ordinance repealing an ordinance entitled An Ordinance to establish a grade on Main st in the city of Massillon, passed Oct. 19, '72 The foregoing resolution was adopted.

The Judiciary Committee reported an ordinance to repeal sections one and two of an ordinance entitled an Ordinance to repeal the Eight section of an ordinance entitled an Ordinance to restrain the running at large of certain animals, passed July 19, 1871, and to revise said section eight of said entitled ordinance, passed May 27, 1871. The foregoing ordinance received its first and second reading and was referred to the Judiciary committee.

Mr. Folger then offered the following preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, It is provided by the 122d section of the Municipal code of the state of Ohio, as follows:

"Sec. 123. The mayor shall at the first regular meeting of the council in April of each year, and at such other times as he may deem expedient, report to the council concerning the corporation, and recommend such measures as to him may seem proper," and

WHEREAS, This body did not meet and fully organize in regular session on Wednesday, the 10th day of April, 1872, which meeting was the first regular meeting in April of the current year, and

WHEREAS, The new members of this body are entirely unacquainted with the condition of the city, especially concerning the condition of the fire, gas, water, police, and treasury departments of the city, the public dept and street commissioners department, as well as many other matters which are properly within the provision of the annual report of the mayor. Therefore

Resolved, That the mayor be and he hereby is requested to furnish this council, as required by law, with a report in writing, of the condition of the city and the officers of the city generally.

On motion the foregoing preamble and resolution was adopted.

The finance committee were authorized to make a loan of one thousand dollars for four months.

On motion the chairman of the street and alley committee was instructed to notify the street commissioner not to expend more money on streets and alleys than he may collect on account of poll tax.

The bond of the mayor was accepted, and the mayor and city clerk duly qualified by R H Folger notary public.

No further business appearing the council adjourned.

Mr. Bayliss, the proprietor of the Excelsior Works, is getting ready for harvest. Yesterday one of his improved reapers was on the street, and its movements attracted the attention of a large number of people.

Mr. Grosse, of the firm of Allman, Grosse & Wetter, in a few days will again go east to purchase further supplies of spring goods That firm disposes of large quantities of all classes of dry goods.

ALLIANCE, O., April 15th 1872.

At a regular meeting of the Workingmen's Temple of Honor, No. 88, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God in his all wise providence to remove by death, our much beloved brother, Alx. McAlister. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recognize in this sad event the exercise of a Divine superintendency, mysteriously in its workings and sovereign in its ways.

Resolved, That in the removal of Brother McAlister from his place in our order, we have lost an efficient and earnest member and a faithful brother.

Resolved, That we extend our sincere condolence to the afflicted survivors of the family, as evidence of our respect and regards for them, and especially to mark not only personal esteem but brotherly considerations for the deceased.

Resolved, That we drape our hall in mourning for the space of thirty days, and present a copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased, and cause them to be published in Alliance and Massillon papers.

DYSPEPSIA COMPLAINT.

In this disease there is a peculiar cachetic condition of the blood which gives rise to a long train of diversified symptoms.

The countenance becomes sallow, the eyes have a yellowish tinge, the whole skin becomes changed in color and appearance and not unfrequently terminates in a jaundiced condition of all the excretions but especially the urine.

Dyspepsia soon sets in, sometimes similates consumption, dropsy, with its usual symptons of swelling of the feet and legs—asthmetic difficulties, costiveness, piles, &c. These many times so far change the symtons in every other respect as to make it difficult for the physicians to arrive at the true nature of the disease by the pulse or tongue alone.

A mere ocular inspection of the urine in this disease, however, is nearly always sufficient to determin the nature of the case, and many times to give a very correct opinion of the extent of the mischief also.

The melancholy which is so apt to take place in liver complaint, has often led to erroneous treatment, and the worst of consequences have thus befallen the patient.

We have cured many cases of melancholy amounting even to derangement of mind, when the cause was plainly attributed to liver complaint alone.

In this disease, as in many other urine, is so well marked as to denote the character of disorder long before it is manifested by any other symptom or outward sign.

We have had the examination and treatment of so many cases of this disease and its complications that we have learned the kind of medicines to be used in each particular case not only—but feel satisfied that they can be treated more successfully without, than with any mercurial preparation whatever.

In fact, our success in this affection numbers thousands of cases, and reliable cures have been made in hundreds of instances, after nearly the last vestige of hope had been exhausted.

For the benefit of those living at a distance laboring under chronic affection and unable to attend in person, we would say, by sending a vial of urine for examination, the necessary medicines can dy sent them by express,

FOUTZ'S

CELEBRATED

Horse and Cattle Powders.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly revivify and broken down and low spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, DISTEMPER, PINK EYE, WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, FOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite, gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.

To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Fevers, the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be readily cured or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

LOCAL MATTERS.

The MORNING DAWN!

Is the poetic subject of a Lecture by

Miss JANE O. DeFOREST,

Of Norwalk, on next Tuesday evening, the 30th inst, in this place—location indicated by posters. She comes highly commended by the press wherever she has spoken. Be sure to go and hear.

McClelland & Co, Dispatch building, 67 and 69, 5th avenue, Pittsburgh, are our sole agents and from them only can we receive advertisements from that city. tf

MR. EDITOR—By announcing the name of Judge J. W. Underhill as a candidate for congress subject to republican district convention, you will oblige a host of his friends. MASSILLON.

TO INDEPENDENT.—By announcing the name of Irvine C. Wales as a candidate for congress from this district, subject to the action of the republican nominating convention, you will oblige MASSILLON.

SOCIAL—The Presbyterian social will meet Thursday evening of this week at the residence of G. R. McDowell, on Mill st. All are cordially invited to be present.

The legislature has passed the bill, which is now a law, authorizing the county commissioner to build a new jail, and the commissioners have purchased a not very large piece of land for which they propose to pay $19,000. Pretty good cash capital to build a jail upon.

Last week we announced that the school tax for the coming year had been put at 5 per cent Instead of 5 per cent it should be 5 mills on the dollar.

Mr. Henry Reed has just sold the T. V. R. Co 22 acres of land for $7000. The road passes diagonally through the property making it almost useless to Mr. R, but for the company it is a good acquisition.

Mr W. B Humberger, of the firm of Humberger & Son, has left for the eastern cities for the purpose of purchasing a stock of new goods.

At this writing—April 23d—the water is not yet thrown loose in our hydrants on the south side of the street. We have concluded to put the melting off till the first of August, though it may premature ly come even as early as the Fourth of July.

In consequence of the long continued drouth farmers tell us, where they have been plowing that the earth is unusually loose and mellow This, with a smaller amount of rain than usual, will be favorable to the growth of vegetables.

Maple molasses is not plenty here this season, and what little there is brings $1 a gallon Sugar of the make is some 25 to 28 cents a pound Butter 18 to 20—potatoes 50 cts eggs 12 cents, apples $1 Four $3,35 —oats 32,35 Wheat 1,75 per bushel Hams 8 to 9 cts, bacon 5 cents, pork 4 cents. Fresh fish 10 to 12 cents.

The drama of the Old Flag which was recently presented to our citizens under the auspices of our G A R friends, is to be produced at Alliance on the 1st, 2d and 3d of May.

In consequence of water being out of the canal for some two weeks the paper mill will not be in operation It has been making a long and successful run, and when in full operation the two machines turn out one hundred feet of paper a minute—so Dave says. Some two and a half tuns of wrapping are made daily.

For the purpose of making repairs the Volcano Furnace—Mr. Burton's—has gone out of blast for a few weeks As soon as in order for work it will be put into active operation. The Massillon furnace has been making a successful and continuous run of eighteen months, and keeps right along at work.

Peter Gribble, the enterprising livery man on Mill street, has added to his already extensive establishment, a new, neat and finely finished double seated carriage, suitable for family or party drives It is from the manufactory of Werts & Co., of Canton, and for beauty and elegance of design is not surpassed by any vehicle in this part of Uncle Sam's domain.

A friend of ours who recently visited the soldiers retreat at Dayton has furnished us an interesting account of the same, for which we have not room this week, but which will appear in next issue.

A new daily has just been commenced at Columbus, The Dispatch, under the auspices a printing company. Connected with it is a weekly paper, the motto of which is, "Independent in all things, and neutral in nothing." The publishers aim to make it a spunghty, reliable paper, not filled with political buncombe, but wide awake to the interests of all good citizens The weekly is $1 50 a year The specimen number sent us is filled throughout with live reading—no long yarns or heavy essays—but brief, pointed and direct matter, addressed to the business man, such as will challenge the readers attention, and compensate him for the reading.

On Friday next, the 26th inst, the I O O F order is to have a big time at Akron, in dedicating a new lodge at that place. A large delegation is expected to go from here, Canton, and other places where the brethren have lodges.

By the papers we observe that Barnum's great show is to honor Massillon with a visit on Wednesday, June 19th. As he is the captain of the show business in this country perhaps in the world we look for an exhibition of much more than ordinary magnitude and richness Circuses, we observe, are already perambulating the country.

At a national meeting of the Army of the Potomac on Tuesday, May 7th, it is announced that Gen. Grant, the president, and Gen Burnside will be present, If that idea is generally diffused, and a probability of it being realized a vast crowd of people will visit Cleveland on that day.

The Reformed Synod of Ohio will meet at Canton on the first prox. and continue in session several days

Capt Hoskins, who has been a citizen of Massillon for a number of years, and won by his affability, intelligence, and broad views of humanity, the respect of all who became acquainted with him, on last Thursday took his final leave of our city, going east, we understand, to mingle in associations with which he was once identified. In this movement he has the sympathies and good wishes of the numerous friends who part from him with regret, and hope that his future may be favored with the prosperity and happiness which he so well deserves.

At this time a year the papers are generally advising the people everywhere to plant trees This advice has been liberally followed, and there is yet much room for a great many more trees. When they become too numerous it don't take long to get rid of them, but it requires years of the fostering hand of nature to grow a tree of any useful size, and as they are liable to be destroyed in so many ways there is no better plan to keep up the supply than to continue planting and caring for them. Our citizens have been liberal in this way, still there is room for a great many more trees than we see about town.

We have material for a first rate sensation article—all located right here—but consider the subject of too small dimensions to engross the attention of our readers, or to encumber our columns If there are any Sylvanus Cobbs in our midst we presume they will jump at the object alluded to—which our citizens know all about—like a hungry duck on a June bug, and spread like a hen trying to hatch out twelve dozen eggs at a single setting.

Prof D M. Humer, formerly teacher of penmanship in Massillon Union schools, is now engaged in his profession at Orrville Whether it was a good move to dispense with his services in that branch of education here is now left for time to determine.

New goods are arriving daily, as may be seen by the numerous cases and boxes just opening at the different stores in the city.

A full grown member of the frost family made himself conspicuously visible here yesterday morning It is expected he will be poking round for some weeks yet, at intervals.

A large delegation of our citizens went to Akron Monday evening to hear and see Joe Jefferson as Rip Van Winkle as only he can perform the drama.

MUSICAL.—Those celebrated bell-ringers and vocalists, the Berger Family, are to hold one of their attractive concerts in the Opera house in this place on next Monday evening Among the celebrities of the troupe Sol Smith Russell is announced, and as one of the performers, especially in this way of amusement stands among the first of his class Indeed, the entire party have a reputation for excelling in producing both vocal and instrumental harmonies, and let them be favored with a full house, as they well deserve.

Mr Garver, the bookbinder, on Erie st, is continually adding to his facilities for carrying on his business Recently he procured an improved standing press, and has a quantity of material ready to work up for the benefit of customers. We were pleased to see that he is liberally patronized and his work will compare favorably with that done elsewhere

On Monday evening one of the bands favored some of our citizens with choice music.

The colored church of this place has been holding a protracted meeting the last few days.

For a number of years the Schauf Bros of this place have been engaged in the manufacture of candies and they have succeeded in getting up a good trade, for their productions are favorably known where they sell their goods Their business seems to be increasing, and they have purchased that vacant lot on the corner of Erie and Plum streets, where they soon expect to put up a candy factory.

Sewing Machines—Which is the best sewing machine, is a point on which different companies differ; each of course, thinks its own the best. One may have advantages for one kind of work, and another for another But if the point were to be decided by popularity, the Singer machine would outstrip all others The returns of the last year show that its sales have been positively enormous—amounting to not less than 181,000 machines. It has an immense "circulation," as newspapers would say, in Europe as well as in this country. These ought—be enough to sew up all the rents in the royal princes and ministers of State, which have been for [illegible] bodily injured condition—New York Evangelist.

The Great Enemy—When the blood becomes charged with noxious particles exoteric to the uses of the body, it soon lays waste one organ after another, until the whole is destroyed or until some deep seated lesion gnaws into some vital part whose proper functions are necessary to health and the proper enjoyment of life. Chronic diseases, which by their slow consumings are apt after a while to impair to an irremediable extent the whole constitution of man, should be attended to with us much care as those of an acute or speedily active disease, and if this be done they are quite as amenable to treatment. Consumption, so fatal when it has fastened its fangs on its victim, is of easy cure at the start. A tintul of water would put out the spark which burns down a city. Soa bottle of Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure in the beginning of a cough or cold will allay all irritation and separate from the lungs and carry out of the system all morbid matter, both by expectoration and the other channels of the body, and give to the blood that plastic quality necessary to the supplies of tissue. Dr. Keyser's pamphlet on chronic lung diseases, sent anywhere free of charge. Price of Lung Cure, one dollar and fifty cents per bottle, or four bottles at one time for five dollars, at Dr. Keyser's office for lung and chronic diseases, 187 Liberty street, Pittsburgh. Office hours, from 10 to 1 daily, and on Saturdays from 6 until 6, and on Saturday at night until 9.

Bottles Full of Beauty.—Ladies, if you would have beauty by the bottle full, all you have to do is to purchase Hagan's Magnolia Balm. That peerless beautifier of the complexion not only heightens natural charms, but renders even the plainest complexion exceedingly attractive. It recalls to the pallid cheek the rosy tinge of health, removes pimples, blotches, roughness, sallowed and other blemishes, and imparts to the skin a most delicate fairness and softness. It smothes the furrows caused by time and care, and gives face, neck and arms the plump and engaging appearance of youthful beauty. All this is accomplished by the most natural means, viz: by gently and naturally stimulating the circulation in the capillary blood vessels. Besides being the most effectual aid to beauty known to modern science.

The dreadful yellow disease is raging in this country. Death stares you in the face Why do you delay? Go to the drug store and get a package of Shannon's Liver Regulator, for one dollar, and remove the cause of this fatal disease. Keep your liver in proper order and their is no danger of your being afflicted.

Shawls in every color and variety of design and quality at McLain, Dangler & Co's.

Do you want something to make your boys a good suit of clothes, cheap? Go to Hicks' and see their goods.

Holloway's Ointment.—Erysipelas and inflamatory diseases yield to a diligent use of this powerful preparation In the first, hand, and neck their approach should be checked at once—if suppuration ensues, danger is imminent, and the knife cannot be employed without jeopardizing life. This ointment will remove the disorder, without cutting, pain or peril. 25 cents per box or pot.

The largest assortment of all kinds of carpets in this city can be found at Hicks', we invite you all to come and see our goods.

Ladies when out shopping should not fail to call at McLain, Dangler & Co's, and examine their endless variety of spring goods, just received, and offered at prices that defy competition. No trouble to show goods.

From the number of accidents happening lately, we should think it advisable for people generally to patronize the Travelers accident insurance company. This company insures against accidents of any kind, and any one insured in it, and being injured in any way, will have their compensation promptly paid. We are all liable to accidents, then why not invest a few dollars in the Travelers, so that we shall have an income in case we are disabled for attending to our usual business. This company has cash assets to the amount of $1,919,841.48, its oldest and most reliable company in the United States. We would refer all desiring a policy to the agent, John T Arnold, at W E London's store.

Editorial notices are so common that it is almost impossible for an editor to express his honest opinion of the merits of any article with out being suspected of interested motives This fact, however, shall not deter us from saying what we think of a new addition to the Materia Medica to which our attention has been recently directed. We refer to Dr J Walker's California Vinegar Bitters, a remedy which is making its way into more families just now than all the other advertised medicines put together. There seems to be no question about the potency of its tonic and alterative properties, while it possesses the great negative recommendation of containing neither alcohol nor mineral poison. That it is a specific for indigestion, biliousness, constipation, and many complaints of nervous origin, we have reason to know; and we are assured on good authority that as a general invigorant, regulating and purifying medicine, it has no equal, It is stated that its ingredients, (obtained from the wilds of California,) are new to the medical world; and its extraordinary effects certainly warrant the conclusion that it is a compound of agents hitherto unknown If popularity is any criterion, there can be no doubt of the efficiency of the Vinegar Bitters, for the sale of the article is immense and continually increasing. 4w

THE NEW FAMILY
SINGER SEWING MACHINE

The undersigned has opened rooms for the sale of this celebrated Sewing Machine, three doors north from McLain, Dangler & Co's store, Erie street, Massillon, O, where he intends to keep on hand a full assortment of Sewing Machines, needles, attachments, and findings for all machines. Silks and threads of best quality.

This NEW FAMILY MACHINE is capable of a range and variety of work such as was thought impossible to perform by machinery We claim and can show that it is the cheapest, most beautiful, delicately arranged, nicely adjusted, easily operated, and smoothly running of all family sewing machines. It is remarkable not only for the range and variety of its sewing, but also for the variety and different kinds of texture which it will sew with equal facility and perfection, using silk twist, linen or cotton thread, fine or coarse, making the interlock chain stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewn. Thus, beaver cloth, or leather, may be sewn with great strength and uniformity of stitch, and in a moment, this willing and never wearying instrument may be adjusted for fine work on gauze or gossamer tissue, or the tucking of tarlatan or ruffling or alphostan or other work which delicate fingers have been known to perform

Purchasers wishing to buy a machine are requested to call and examine our prices &c., before purchasing elsewhere.

PLANTATION BITTERS.

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women were especially subject, it is superceding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermine sthe bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. 444-1y

The True Grounds of Confidence.

Whence comes that firm reliance, that absolute, undoubting faith in the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach bitters as a remedy for indigestion bilious disorders, intermittent and remittent fevers, which notoriously prevail in all parts of the United States? This confidence is not been growing for twenty years, and is still increasing. It is not the result of [illegible] has not been ordered by any human device, but is the spontaneous and natural consequence of experience What people see daily going on under their own eyes they cannot question. When families in unhealthy districts that resort to this wholesome vegetable tonic as a preventive escape periodical fevers, and their immediate neighbors, who neglect this precaution, are prostrated by disease, how is it possible that the phenomenon should be without its lesson? In like manner when it is seen that obstinate cases of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, nervous weakness and of general debility, yield to the operation of the famous remedy, how can even incredulity itself withhold its enforcement? Eye witnesses of the salutary effects of the Bitters are to be found in every civilized settlement on the continent. The thousands upon thousands who owe their restoration to health and strength, or their preservation from sickness, to its extraordinary medicinal properties, are enthusiastic in its praise. The multitudes who recommend it in a neighborly way to their friends and acquaintances, as well as those who make public their estimate of its virtues are always ready to state their reasons for the faith that is in them They have all either tested or witnessed its [illegible] operations.

OH, WOULD I WERE A CHILD AGAIN!

Sighs the weary and exhausted one, as the languor and lassitude of spring comes upon him Come and receive vigor and strength from the wonderful South American Tonic

JURUBEBA

Long and successfully used in its native country, as a powerful tonic and potent purifier of the blood, it is found even to exceed the anticipations founded on its great reputation. According to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, it possesses the most powerful tonic properties known to Materia Medica.

Dr Wells' Extract of Jurubeba

Is a perfect remedy for all diseases of the blood, organic weakness, glandulous tumors, dropsy scrofula, internal abscesses, and will remove all obstructions of the liver, spleen, infested uterine and urinary organs.

It is strengthening and nourishing, like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful tonic and restorative effects produces a healthy and vigorous action to the whole system

ANCIENT MUSIC.

The ancient Jews had no written music; had scarcely a vowel in their language, and yet, according to Josephus, had two hundred thousand musicians playing at the dedication of the Temple of Solomon Mozart would have died in such a concert in the greatest agonies! The Jewish trumpets that made Jericho's wall fall down were only ram's horns; their flute was only a cow's horn with three or four holes in it; they had no other instrumental music but by percussion, of which the greatest boast made was the psaltery, a small triangular harp lyre, with strings, and struck with an iron needle or stick; their saebut was something like a bagpipe; the timbrel was a tamborine; the dulcimer was a horizontal harp, with strings, and struck with a psaltery stick. The Egytian flute was the same as the Jewish, and their harp or lyre had only three strings. The Grecian lyre had only seven strings, and was very small, being held in one hand.

Legal Tautology.—Some idea of the tautology of the legal formula may be gathered from the following specimen, wherein if a man wishes to give another an orange, instead of saying, 'I give you that orange,' he must set forth his 'act and deed' thus: "I give you all and singular my estate and interest, right, title and claim and advantage of and in that orange, with all its rind, skin, juice, pulp and pits, and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, cut or otherwise eat the same orange, or give the same away, with or without its rind, skin, juice pulp and pits, anything heretofore or hereinafter, or in any other deed or deeds, instruments of what kind or nature soever, to the contrary in anywise notwithstanding."

A Novel Recipe.—There are recipts going the rounds of the press for the proper manufacture of this thing and that, but here is something which, while it may be old as to peculiarity of description, is not by any means an old thing among us in practice, for we notice a Presbyterian minister in West Virginia has been brought before Presbytery for doing the same thing. The only difference in his case was, instead of commencing with a few scraps, he took whole pages verbatim et literatim

Dr. Salter, master of the Charterhouse, 1761–1777, wrote the following:

Receipt how to Compose a Sermon.—Take some scraps out of the best books you have, weigh them, and sift them thoroughly, then divide them in to three parts, for dividing them into more is generally thought to crumble them too much; work these well and handle them neatly, but neither mince nor chop them. Season the whole with a due proportion of salt; put in nothing that is too hard or difficult to digest, but let all be clear and candid; it should have some fire, for that will prevent it being heavy; you may garnish it with a few flowers, but not so thick as to hide the substance; take care that it's not overdone, for as it is the last thing served, if its not inviting some of of the company may not taste it; in a hard frost or extreme cold weather it should be done in twenty minutes: in more temperate it may take half an hour; if its done in a quarter of an hour its for a king.

The railroad men down east are quizzing a new station agent in that benighted region, who made a requisition for 'red oil' for signal lights.

An Irish jockey, once selling an nag to a gentleman, frequently observed with an emphatic earnestness that he was an honest horse. After the purchase the gentleman asked what he meant by an honest horse? 'Why, sir,' replied the seller, 'whenever I rode him and he threatened to throw me, he certainly never deceived me.'

A minister asked a tipsy fellow leaning up against the fence, where he expected to go when he died. 'If I cant get along any better than I do now,' he said, 'I shan't go anywhere.

'Mr. Swipes, I've just kicked William out of the store.'

'Well, Swingle, its the first Bill you've footed this many a day.'

Real greatness does not depend on the things we do, but the mind with which we do them.

It is quite the fashion to drop now and then a lump of piety into personal conduct, but too often there is little care to work it. A life properly seasoned with grace has a uniform flavor. —Beecher.

A golden rule for a young lady is to converse always with her female friends as if a young gentleman were of the party; and with young men as if her female companions were present.

Chicago's fire marshal has just published his annual report, in which he says the great fire lasted twenty eight hours, and destroyed 25,000 buildings, covering 2,000 acres, and inflicting a loss of $190,525,500, the insurance on which was $90,000,000.

Sleeping on one side.—Sleeping on the right side, which, in addition to permitting a free action of the heart, has the great advantage of favoring the escape, through the pyloric orifice of the stomach, of that organ's contents by gravitation, the stomach then lying in an inclined position from left to right which it also assumes when one is in the erect attitude. For people who limit themselves to light or easily digested suppers, or to indulgence in hot suppers and accompaniments, the best way to avoid, or to facilitate escape from uneasy sensations, is a question of interest.

THE IMPROVED AMERICAN:

Button-Hole, Overseaming,

—AND—

Complete Sewing Machine.

The first and only Button-hole and Sewmachine combined that has made its advent in this or any other country.

☞The following reasons are given why this is the best

Family Machine to Purchase

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do, sewing from the finest to the coarsest material, hemming, felling, cording, braiding, binding, gathering and sewing on at the same time, ruffling, quilting, &c, better than any other machine.
2. Because the tensions are more easily adjusted than any other machine.
3. Because it can make a beautiful button hole, making as fine a pearl as by hand.
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment.
5. Because it will make a beautiful eyelet hole
6. Because it can do overhand seaming, by which sheets, pillow cases, and the like are sewed over and over.
7. Because you can quickly raise or lower the feed to adapt it to thick or thin cloth.
8. Because you have a short deep bobbin by which the thread is constantly drawn from the center; the tension is consequently even and does not break the thread.
9. Because the presser foot turns back; that the cloth can be easily removed after being sewed.
10. Because the best mechanics pronounce it the best finished and made on the best principle of any machine manufactured.
11. Because it has a better shuttle than any other machine.
12. Because it runs easier and quieter than any other heavy machine.
13. Because it is two machines in one—a button hole working and sewing machine combined.

It is to last a lifetime, and therefore one is wanted that will do the most work, and do it the best, and this machine can do several kinds of sewing not done on any other machine, besides doing every kind that all others can do.

The American or Plain Sewing Machine

Is a beautiful family and light manufacturing machine, possessing all the superior qualities of the combined machine, except making button holes and overseaming. In all other respects the principal of construction is the same.

These Machines are Warranted.
